To help parents and students decide on the ideal choice of programmes, a Multiple Intelligence Assessment is conducted prior to selection so as to identify the student's potential in a variety of intelligence areas such as in Visual, Logical, Abstract, Linguistic and Musical Intelligence.

Mr Jackie Lim, Founder and Director of Gummy Education said, “This framework allows parents to design a suitable programme for their child. Every child has unique abilities and at this stage of their development, it is a great opportunity for them to discover their potential, which enables them to become worthy contributors to society in the future.”

The programme have received overwhelming response from the community since its inception at Jac's Learning Centre in 2018.

Ms Della Chu, who was amongst the first to sign up for the programme said, “I chose the programme because I find that it provides an even and holistic development for my daughter. Not only academic practice is emphasised but during the spare time, I like how my daughter is introduced to various different activities such as music, coding, robotics and sports. She enjoys them very much.”

Gummy Cove is open for registration for the current 2019 academic year for all Primary School students aged 6-12. Parents with pre-school children may opt to reserve a place for their child for 2020 by approaching any Gummy Education outlets. More information is available on www.gummy.sg
